Approach Turf Type Annual Ryegrass is gaining popularity for over-seeding Bermudagrass turf, and as a nurse grass with cool season species. Approach is an alternative to more persistent and competitive Perennial or Intermediate Ryegrasses. Approach is a new “turf-type” Annual Ryegrass released in 2013, with a more attractive appearance and improved turf quality compared to Gulf Annual Ryegrass. Approach is quick to germinate and establish, is durable, more affordable to establish than Perennial and Intermediate Ryegrasses, and is fast to check out in spring. In the southern half of the U.S., turf-type Annual Ryegrass is a quality alternative to Perennial or Intermediate Ryegrass for winter over-seeding or a companion to other seedings for erosion control while other turf grasses are establishing. Additionally, Approach can be an excellent option in the northern U.S. and Canada for temporary turf maintenance, erosion control, and other turf seed mixes that benefit from Annual or Intermediate Ryegrass.
