Paramount Tall Fescue is a turf type that thrives in the fall, but it has a low percentage of winter damage and acceptable spring greenup rating, making it a great choice year round. In the fall NTEP Tests, Paramount had one of the higher living ground cover ratings, as well as a high density rating. It has resistance against grey leaf spots, pythium blight, brown patch, and pink patch diseases. This variety is highly uniform when it comes to its dark green color, fine leaf texture, and overall great quality, which makes it exceptional for an array of turf uses.
